

FOOD AND WINE TOUR

Savouring Samui

GOURMET TRAVELLERS ARE SET TO ENJOY
THE INAUGURAL FABULOUS WEEKEND

WHEN A WINE IMPORTER TURNS TO ORGANISING tours, you can expect the focus to be on fine food and drink. FIN (Fabulous Is Needed) is launching its Fabulous Weekends, with the first scheduled for October 7 to 9 in Samui. Led by FIN's Benjawan Wisootsat and Jan Ganser, five couples will stay at the stylish W Retreat and explore the culinary delights of the island. Arriving at Samui on Friday evening, guests enjoy a sunset pre-dinner cocktail at W's Sip bar, followed by a five-course dinner at Namu restaurant. Here, chef Matthew Woolford (pictured) creates innovative Asian-inspired dishes paired with handcrafted wines from FIN. Breakfast is an interactive experience at chef Matthew's Kitchen Table. In the afternoon, guests are taken to the private YL Residence for a high tea by the sea. Next are sunset aperitifs at the brand-new Conrad's Glow lounge and wine dinner at its Jahn restaurant. On the last day, Sunday, guests can have a 90-minute signature spa treatment at W's Away spa, with departure back to Bangkok in the afternoon. The price for this all-inclusive three-day two-night package per couple is 58,000 baht, including the return flight between Bangkok and Samui and all limousine transfers.
